SharpReading for the Struggling Older Reader: Years 3-8

About the course

Almost every Year 3-8 classroom has them; those readers who still struggle with decoding fluency, whose reading age is one plus years behind their chronological age, for whom the gap is widening all the time and whose confidence levels about reading are in tatters.

This workshop will equip you to deliver a well researched and proven 8-10 week intervention that will develop those missing decoding strategies and rebuild reader confidence. The best news is that you can integrate it into your normal classroom reading group rotation so they don't have to be withdrawn. We also take care of the next very important part, integrating the reader back into a mainstream guided reading program.

Highly recommended for the experienced or beginning teacher who wants to be able to do something for these students within their normal reading program, the learning support teacher who deals with these issues all the time and wants a fresh approach that is going to work.

Please note this is not intended for students with extreme learning difficulties.
