

Structure and Elections

Update copy to include state council, district council, committees.

Refer to copy in NEN handbook.

The SSTUWA has an active committee system contributing to the governance of the union. These committees are:

- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Education Committee
- Early Childhood Educators Committee
- LGBTIQ+ Committee
- New Educators Committee
- School Leaders Committee
- TAFE Committee
- Women's Committee

The committees generally meet at least once a term. The term of office is 12 months and will end on completion of the following year's committee elections.

District Council

The state is divided into districts, with each district entitled to representation at District Council level. These councils then have a range of powers including formulating a district position on local issues and making recommendations to Executive and State Council about union policy.

State Council

The terms of reference of the committees, as endorsed by Executive, are as follows:

1. Review and revise relevant union policy.
2. Assist in the formulation of position papers.
3. Assist in the planning and organisation of seminars, conferences and other membership activities.
4. Monitor government and employer actions under relevant legislation.
5. Evaluate SSTUWA rules, policies and other positions as examples of "best practice".
6. Consider and make recommendations on matters referred by the Administrative Committee and Executive.
7. Make recommendations to Executive on matters considered by the committee.
