SSTUWA congratulates NSW counterparts on education commitment

The SSTUWA congratulates the New South Wales Teachers' Federation for its strong campaign on public education over the past few years, culminating in a strong presence during the NSW election campaign.

The NSWTF has secured significant pledges from the incoming state Labor government, including a promise to bring funding for state schools up to 100 per cent of the minimum school resourcing standard (SRS).

"The NSWTF made education a key factor in the state election. We congratulate our colleagues on their hard work and success," said SSTUWA President Matt Jarman.
